Re: Services Rendered for the National Bio & Agro Defense Facility

Dear Bill,

I wanted to share Perkins+Will's appreciation for the level of coordination The Redicheck Firm has provided on the National Bio & Agro Defense Facility for Perkins+Will and the US Department of Homeland Security (DHS). Even though all design disciplines used building information modeling (BIM) through Revit by Autodesk, RediCheck's QC review proved to be invaluable as the final coordination. At this time in the design and construction industry solely relying on BIM is still too risky due to the infancy of this technology especially related to the MEP disciplines. On this particular project the fact that there were 7 buildings, over 50 models, 2,500 drawings and a construction budget exceeding $800M made your services a wise investment by DHS.

Thank you for your degree of professionalism, reliability and overall positive influence to the project's bottom line.

Sincerely,

Michael S. Moreland
